Friday Evening last arrived the Harriot Packet, Capt. Oake, in 5 Weeks and three Days from Falmouth, and the Ship York, Capt. Berton, in 6 Weeks from London, by whom we have the following Advices, viz.

LONDON, March 16.

THE Ministry now carry every measure with a very high hand, owing to the inconsistent and absurd conduct of some of the gentlemen in opposition. Mr. D. def. 11's motion on Thursday for leave to bring in a bill to establish the powers of Juries, to the astonishment of many, was opposed by Mr. Ph. ps. and Sir William Meredith, Mr. Ph. pps moving to adjourn, and Sir William seconding the motion. Several other gentlemen of the opposition divided against the motion.

A correspondent says, "the disturbances which have been occasioned by the printing a few speeches of the Members of the House of Commons, reminds me of an anecdote which I have heard of the late Mr. Pelham. A motion was, in his time, made by some hot-brained Member, to prosecute the Printers of some of the magazines, for publishing some speeches said to be made in Parliament.
But Mr. Pelham, who had a little more wit than either Col. Onslow, or his cousin and namesake, quashed the motion with the following observation:
"Let them alone (said he) they make better speeches for us than we can make for ourselves."

The friends of liberty observe, with the utmost concern, the present dissensions among the members of the opposition, and the bitter sarcasms which they publicly throw out against each other. — A few nights ago, in a certain great assembly, Mr.
B. — said, "that Sir W. — M. — th resembled the pendulum of a clock, vibrating between Ministry and the opposition."

March 19. His Majesty was at Carlton-house all Sunday evening: In an adjacent room a particular cabinet was held, where Sir Fletcher Norton was expatiating on the City behaviour. Six hot-headed members moved to have the Lord-Mayor, and Alderman Wilkes and Oliver, at the Bar of the House, and even to march a party of the Horse-guards into the City to see it executed. Be it as it will, all the Crown Lawyers are ordered to give their opinion, though not to be made public.

On Wednesday last, in consequence of the great mob, and their riotous proceedings, when the members were going to the house, (lest the civil power should not prevent disorder) a battalion of the First Regiment of guards, in the Savoy Barracks and the Tilt-yard, were ordered to be in readiness to march, when the urgency of the occasion required their assistance. — Fortunately for the military, the Civil Officers did their own duty.

The Lord Mayor said in the house of commons, that if the ministry meant lenity, in their motion to commit him to the Serjeant at Arms, he did not ask it; he would not accept of it from that Bench, (pointing at the Treasury Bench.) That his health was much better; and that he was very well able and willing to meet any punishment, which they (the Treasury) might inflict. And that if there were any doubts about two punishments, he wished to share the fate of his honourable friend in the Tower.

We hear that the Lieutenant of the Tower having sent his compliments to the Lord-Mayor, informing his Lordship that he is at liberty to walk about any where within the Tower walls, attended by a warden if he desired it; his Lordship returned him thanks for his kind offer; and added that he did not choose to ask or accept of any favours; that he was satisfied with the apartments allotted him, and would continue within them till his discharge shall be ordered.

The true friends of liberty abhor all violent and illegal behaviour, even to the most obnoxious ministerial tribe. They could heartily have wished my Lord North had not been ill treated by the popular. As for the Hon. Mr. Fox, it is believed, that nobody is sorry that his clothes were dirtied, or his face begrimed; the mob were only determined to make him as dirty without as he is within.

It is reported that silver coin is now buying up for the use of the Bank, in order to be tendered in payment, should certain threats of monied persons be carried into execution.

They write from Dublin, that party disputes continue to run as high as ever in that city, and that all the military near Dublin are now quartered in the suburbs; under such apprehensions are certain gentlemen for their safety.

A further Account of the Proceedings on Monday in the House of Commons. March 28.

The Lord Mayor attended in his place, and was present at the whole debate till near tea at night, when he desired leave to withdraw, or that a bed might be procured for him there. After some little discussion of his request, Mr. Dunning said, that if he had been near enough to whisper the Lord Mayor; he would have given his advice upon the occasion; but since he was not near enough for a whisper, he would speak it aloud, and that his Advice to the Lord Mayor was; that he should go immediately out of the House, and see who would dare to stop him. Soon after Lord North arose, and said, the Lord Mayor might go, but that it must be understood that he was still in his place, and as he was ill the House would wink at his absence. The Lord Mayor accordingly departed.

The opposition to the ministerial resolutions against the city was opened by Sir George Savile, upon the most judicious ground. He was of opinion, that by refusing to hear council to the whole defence of the Lord Mayor and city of London, the House had put itself out of the capacity of a just procedure in any future step in that cause; he therefore moved the previous question; declaring, that if it was not carried, he would think it is duty to retire from that business. He spoke as usual, with great coolness, and great precision. Mr.
Dowdell seconded the motion, which was much relished by the whole minority, as a wise and well considered proposition. When the main question was put, many leading members accordingly went away; others successively withdrew. Several, however, staid from curiosity, to see what sentence would be proposed.

An adjournment on account of the lateness of the hour was moved, and rejected. At length, when the motion was made for the commitment of Mr. Oliver to the Tower. Mr. William Burke said, that no part of the Business, from the complaint to the judgment, had been wisely or equitably conducted; that he would, therefore, with them a good night. A few minutes after, Lord George Germaine, Mr. Cornwall, and six or seven withdrew. Colonel Barré afterwards spoke with much force and vehemence, against their proceedings, and then he left the House with many more.
Mr. Edmund Burke staid a little longer; he spoke so low that he could scarcely be heard; his speech, as much as could be distinguished at some distance, was lamenting the miserable conduct of the House, in which hardly any thing prudent was left for them to do, and that they had chosen the most imprudent of all the methods in their power. He then retired; very few of the minority were left.

Mr. Alderman Oliver behaved with a spirit and intrepidity which would have done honour to the heroes of antiquity. When the warrant was made out for committing him to the Tower, and read by the Speaker, it was remarked by the whole House, that the steady patriot never once changed colour, or shewed the least agitation of spirit. A motion was made that Mr. Oliver should be reprimanded by the House, which that gentleman, would not assent to, asserting that he had done no more than his duty.

From another correspondent we have the following paragraphs:

The Lord Mayor on Monday in the House refused his defence entirely on the rectitude and justice of his action. He refused to retract in the least from what he had done, or to make any mean submission.

The House wanted Mr. Alderman Oliver to acknowledge himself in an error; but that spirited and upright Magistrate spurned at the proposition, and defied their threats, resting his safety upon the justice of his conduct.

Col. Barré very spiritedly and nobly declared to the House on Monday night last, that their actions became so profligate, that no man of honour could sit among them.

Mr. James Townsend was in the house on Monday, though extremely ill, and supported himself with his usual firmness. Mr. Sawbridge and he declared, that had their situation been the same with that of the Mayor, they would have acted in the same manner. They denied, with great indignation, the charge of opposing the just privileges of the House, in sending for evidence, or committing for manifest contempt; but they distinguished these cases from the wanton calling before them any persons on trivial, or no occasions, merely for the verbal and oppressive exercise of their power.

Serjeant Glynn behaved on this occasion with his usual good sense and firmness. He came post haste from Exeter affairs on purpose. When in the house he told them, that notwithstanding their order enjoined, "that no prosecution should be commenced against the person who assaulted one of the printers," he knew the assaulter would be prosecuted; that he himself was engaged as Counsel for the prosecutor, and that he would most certainly act as such; and that he thus informed the house of his fixed resolution, that they might, if they pleased now issue out their warrant to send him to the Tower.

Mr. Alderman Harley left the House before the division.

The Common Council met yesterday, and resolved, without any division, or one hand being held up to the contrary.

1. That the Lord Mayor be desired to call a Common Hall the 1st of April.

2. That a table be kept for Mr. Alderman Oliver in the Tower, at the expence of the city. The second resolution was moved by Mr. Alderman Kirkman. And

Mr. Alderman Rossiter was the only person who spoke against it. He wanted to know, the number of dishes, the expence, and so on; but found his words received with such disgust and contempt, that he took shame to himself and sat down.

Mr. Ellis moved, at Westminster yesterday, that the Lord Mayor be committed to the custody of the Serjeant at Arms. The Lord Mayor got up, and said,

"I will accept of no lenity from the present Administration. I glory in my deed; and would do the same to-morrow; therefore expect no distinction to be made between me and my brother Alderman Oliver."

Mr. Ellis then begged leave to withdraw his motion, which was refused. He was allowed, however, to amend it, by leaving out the words, custody of the Serjeant at Arms, and inserting in lieu thereof, Tower of London.

The above noble Personage very narrowly escaped with his life yesterday. A large body of people waited for him at the end of Downing-street, and attended him with hisses and other insults to the House, when, upon his quitting his chariot, he was attacked and maltreated in the manner already mentioned.

A Great Personage was also treated with very gross marks of disrespect and indignity by the populace in his return to and from the Parliament House.

March 29. Orders were on Tuesday night sent to the Tower for the ordinary Evening Guard to be doubled, and the same circumspection to be used as was on a similar occasion.

Mr. Wedderburne abused the Minority a good deal. Colonel Barre answered him with great spirit, and treated him with much severity. He gave the history of his political life, in such a language as could not fail making the deepest impression.

Serjeant Glynn and Capt. Phipps, also answered him with dignity and satire. The latter concluded with calling him a Deserter.

Lord North said it had been reported that he was going out of office. He took that opportunity to say he knew nothing of it: That nothing but the Mob, or the King should turn him out: That though he was ready, and wished to give up his place, yet this was not a time to resign: That he had very narrowly escaped being demolished in coming to the House. He thanked Sir William Meredith, who had rescued him from the fury of the people; and—burst into tears.

Mr. Wellbore Ellis moved, That a select Committee of twenty one, to be chosen by ballot, (which was to be done by the Ministry yesterday) be appointed to inquire into the facts, causes and circumstances, of the obstructions to the orders of the house; and how the house may enforce a due obedience to their orders for the future.

The Committee is not limited to any duration; and the house, as far as it can, has given it a power to send for persons and papers.

TO THE PRINTER.

SIR,

I am no way surprized, though I am greatly afflicted, at the events, to which I have this Day been a witness. I have seen a multitude, certainly not less than fourscore thousand, exerting themselves, in the most extraordinary manner, in heaping, insults, and outrages of all sorts, upon the King's person, and even leading him with execrations. This is very melancholy, Sir, but the cause of it is worse. The King, with as many virtues as ever adorned a private person, is unfortunately beset with men, who care as little for his real honour and interest, as they do for that of the nation. By their advice he shuts his ears to the complaints of his people, and suffers them to push him on to such violent measures, as must end in destruction. To-day, indeed, he heard the voice of the people pretty distinctly, and if one may judge by his royal countenance, the crown of England would be dearly purchased at the price of such agonies of grief and shame, as he must have experienced this morning. The resentment of the populace would probably not have been carried so far as it was, but for the indecent and most shocking behaviour of Mr. Charles Fox, who is supposed to have great influence with his Majesty, and already assumes the title and port of minister. This youth, for above half an hour, was leaning out of a coffee-house window in Palace-yard, shaking his fist at the people, and provoking them by all the reproachful words, and menacing gestures, that he could invent. George Selwyn stood behind, encouraging him and clapping him on the back, as if he was a dirty ruffian going to fight in the streets. They often pointed to the horse guards, and it was evident that they meant to urge the people to some violence, upon which they might call in the soldiery to butcher their fellow subjects. These are our senators;—these are the men, whom our gracious King supports, and for whose sake he exposes his person to something much more serious than scorn and contempt. I am truly sorry to see him so shamefully ill-advised.

A. B.

April 1. On Saturday the Dukes of Manchester and Portland, the Marquis of Rockingham, Earl Fitzwilliam, Lord King, Sir Charles Saunders, Admiral Keppel, Sir James Pennycuik, Bart. Mr. Dowdeswell, and Mr. Edmund Burke, attended by the two Sheriffs, Baker and Martin, waited on the Lord Mayor and Mr. Alderman Oliver, at their apartments in the Tower, in order to express their regard for the persons of those Gentlemen, and the intire disapprobation of those proceedings in which sentence was passed, without a full and fair discussion; and a most delicate question of constitutional law decided by inflicting a punishment upon Magistrates who pleaded the obligations of an oath, without a hearing of Council to their whole defence, whereby the foundations of parliamentary justice have been sapped, and the credit of this commercial city injured by the obstruction given to public business.

In the debate on Thursday Morning last in the Lower Assembly, Lord North, in the close of his last speech, observed, "that he was very sure the mob, who surrounded the avenues to the House, and who had the brutality to attack him, were hired by the minority, to endeavour to effect without doors, what they despaired of doing within." Upon which Mr. W. Burke rose up, and said, "It was a falsehood, a most egregious falsehood; that the minority, to a man, were persons of such honour and consequence, as would scorn even the shadow of such a resource; that such a charge could never come from any man, but one hackneyed in indirect measures; and who could never impute such a proceeding to anybody of gentlemen; had he not a mind capable of adopting such himself?"

A messenger was yesterday morning dispatched from St. James's, with letters to several persons (in administration) at Newmarket, requiring their immediate attendance in town, on business of the greatest importance.

We hear that circular letters have been sent to all the members of the Minority, so that some grand eclat is soon expected from that quarter.

We are assured from authority, that private orders have been given for eight men of war of the line, to be stationed in the Downs immediately, Admiral Buckle is to have the command.

We hear, that by a secret convention between the two courts, England has, after all this expense and insult, agreed to give up Falkland's island again; after the Spaniards have made restitution of it to us in due form.

A great Personage, in a conversation the other day with one of his Secretaries of State, asked him his opinion, "What would be the best method of settling the present dispute between his Parliament and the City? To which Lord R. replied, "If I might advise your Majesty, the two citizens should be sent to the Tower, and the two Oasflows to St. Luke's." [A Mad House.]

A correspondent informs us, that the Queen is greatly distressed at the present unhappy divisions, and frequently importunes a great Personage, that some general plan may be immediately adopted for the reconciliation of all parties.

The confinement of the Lord Mayor puts a total stop to all plantation business, as every deed or conveyance executed here, must have the city seal to it in presence of the Lord Mayor.

So great has been the run on the bank, since the commitment of the Lord Mayor and Mr. Alderman Oliver to the Tower, that Betts were laid on Saturday last at New Lloyd's, to pay 30 guineas to receive 100, if bank notes were not discounted before the expiration of one month.

The following further particulars concerning the late entry of Lord Mayor into city, on the night of his commitment, are new, and may serve to shew the spirit of the people.

When the populace at Temple-Bar had obliged the company in the Lord Mayor's coach, to declare upon their honour, that neither of them was a messenger; being satisfied, they opened the gates, and drew the coach to the Mansion-House. But when they arrived, upon the Lord Mayor's getting out, the mob grew very outrageous, and demanded whether the Serjeant at Arms had not attended his Lordship home, putting his company to their word of honour again; which not being answered to their satisfaction, they prepared the cords for hanging Mr. Clementson on the iron pallisades before the Mansion-House, and which would have been carried into execution, had not the Lord Mayor exerted himself greatly upon the occasion. It was remarkable, that the Lord Mayor's intreaties drew the attention of one of the mob, (a tight little fellow) who springing forward, stripped himself, clenched his fists, strutted, and swore the Lord Mayor and his company should go into the house without any further interruption, for if any one man chose to dispute that point, he was ready to fight him; which had the desired effect, by taking off the attention of the mob forward of the mob, whereby his Lordship, the Serjeant at Arms, and the rest of the gentlemen entered the Mansion-house, without any further interruption.

When the Lord Mayor and the Serjeant at Arms came to the Mansion-House, which was about one in the morning, they behaved with the greatest complaisance to each other, his Lordship entertaining this gentleman, whose prisoner he was, with the best French wines and other refreshments. Mr. Clementson left his Lordship about two, and returned about four, in order to convey him to the Tower. But his Lordship not being quite ready to attend him thither, the Serjeant very politely went without him, to see that the apartments were ready for his Lordship's reception, who followed in half an hour, and took possession of them.

An evening paper of last night says, "A company of the third regiment of guards, who distinguished themselves so courageously in St George's Fields on the bloody 10th of May, 1768, are now on duty in the Tower, and amongst the rest Donald Maclean, who murdered young Mr. Allen, Capt. Murray is the commanding officer."

The following are the names of the personages who were on Monday carried in two carts, with a hearse before them, through the city, and down the minorities, to Tower-Hill. The P. D. Ld. R. D. of G. Ld. M. Sir F. N., the A—y G—l; Mr. W—rne, hung by the heels as being a turn coat; Sir G—t E—t, Mefrs. D—n and J—n; C. F—x, in the body and legs a man, head and tail a fox, with a bunch of grapes before him; Ld. W. Ld. H. with a stick, in imitation of a pensioner, or one out of place; Ld. N—h. Near ten thousand people were assembled. One gentleman, who seemed to be a merchant, treated the people with beer, and lent a hand in tying them to the gallows, which was thirty feet high; after hanging an hour, the mob, seeing a hearse to take away the bodies, declared they had been such enemies to the king and country, that they should not be delivered, for they would burn them on the gallows, which was done. A sweep-chimney, with a band, attended as ordinary.

Orders are given for Gen. Elliot's regiment of light dragoons, now quartered in Yorkshire, to march up to the town to relieve Gen. Burgoyne's regiment now on duty at St. James's, which is ordered into quarters.

This day at noon, the Sword-bearer, the three other City Esquires, with the rest of the Lord Mayor's household, in their proper formalities, waited in a body upon his Lordship, with a most dutiful and respectful address, expressing their happiness at his Lordship's firm and resolute conduct in support of the rights and privileges of his fellow citizens, and the constitutional rights of the subjects in general. His Lordship received them very politely; and they afterwards paid the same compliment to Mr. Alderman Oliver, who gave them the like reception.

Advice is received from York, that the Lord Mayor has called the Aldermen and Commoners together, and that they agreed on an address of thanks to be presented to the Right Hon. Bras Crosby, Esq; Lord Mayor of the city of London, for his intrepidity in standing forth in the cause of liberty, by opposing arbitrary power, and for supporting the rights and liberties of the citizens of London and every Englishman. It was agreed to present a like address to the worthy Alderman Oliver.

April 4. The Lord Mayor, considering the great hardships the poor must labour under on account of the coal ships in the river, of which there is a large fleet, not being suffered to be unloaded, sent him warrant yesterday to the Coal-meters office to unload the ships; and immediately a great number of Coalheavers were set to work.

Extract of a letter from Portsmouth, April 3. "This morning sailed from Spithead, the Juno frigate, under the command of Capt. Stott; and the Heund sloop, Captain Barr, with the Florida transport, all for Falkland's island."

A correspondent says, it has been calculated, that should the Lord Mayor persist in refusing to do business, while a prisoner in the Tower, Government will lose upwards of 1000l. a day.

It is said that the Court of Common Council will immediately deliberate on a legal method of proceeding against the Speaker of the House of Commons; and that the Lord Mayor and Alderman Oliver are determined to bring an action on the case for 100,000l. damages, for false imprisonment. The Elizabeth, Capt. Kar, from Charlestown, (South Carolina) a missing ship, having sailed in December last, is safe arrived off the Isle of Wight.

Friday and Saturday it was on Change proposed by several respectable merchants, to go up in a body with an address in favour of our injured Magistrates and violated laws; and we hear the scheme will be speedily carried into execution.

It was yesterday morning strongly reported on 'Change, (on what authority, or for what purpose we pretend not to say) that Gibraltar was attacked by the Spaniards, both by sea and land; that the fleet which lay before it consisted of 30 sail of ships from Barcelona, and other Spanish ports; and that the army employed against it consisted of 17,000 men, who had raised several large batteries within gun-shot of the fort; and that it was expected before this time, that the Spaniards had made themselves masters of it.

Bengal, Bahar, and dothan: The death has been so very great for the last six months, that in the company's districts alone, (upon a moderate computation) there have died upwards of three hundred thousand inhabitants through mere want.

During the last six weeks we have lost in Calcutta and its environs, 7600, and at the cities of Patna and Muradabad, it is supposed more than double the number, although there are many public charities open, and every method that can be thought of taken for their relief. Hunger drives many of them to such distress, that the strongest frequently in some parts of the country fall upon the weaker, and devour them.

Balls, concerts, and all public entertainments ought to subside at this time of general scarcity; but I am sorry to say they have not; and under the doors and windows of these places of amusements, lie many dead bodies, and others again in all the agonies of death, despair and want. But let me quit this melancholy subject, and inform you that there is a prospect of a very plentiful harvest, and grain begins to be cheaper. There has also been a great mortality among the Europeans here; upwards of two hundred have died within these two months, and the sickly season is not yet over.

"There was never so great a scarcity of cash in Bengal as at present; not a rupee to be had even from the company; part of the troops two months in arrears; trade is dead; and the Company, I am afraid will fall short of their revenues this year, the Company being quite impoverished, the villages deserted, and the riots (or renters) flown to the large towns for relief. However among all the calamities, there is not the least talk of a war either here or upon the coast.

"General Coote is daily expected round from Madras, where he arrived some time ago. We are informed he is making great regulations in the army, and it is imagined this establishment will be put upon a different footing."

Extract of a letter from Bengal, dated Sept. 16, brought by the Lapwisp.

"The misery occasioned by the famine in the province of Bengal is incredible. I believe I speak within compass, when I say at least two millions of souls have perished within these few months.— The Europeans have suffered greatly, not so much from famine as from a pestilential disorder, which is the general consequence of it."

April 6. By authentic advices from Cadiz we learn, that the Spaniards go on briskly in their preparations for war, which event they look upon for certain about the month of August next.

Letters from Paris assure, that all the accounts of Madam de Barry being out of favour have no foundation in truth; on the contrary, it is an indisputable fact, that the doating monarch seems every day more and more enamoured.

CHARLESTOWN. (South-Carolina) April 4.

His Excellency Governor Wright, dissolved the General Assembly of Georgia, by proclamation, on the 23d of February last, the Commons House having, as his Excellency therein sets forth, assumed some very extraordinary and unwarrantable powers.
On the 6th ult. his Excellency ordered writs to be issued for a new election.—And, we hear, that so far as the inhabitants have already proceeded in the said election, they have re-chosen the same members.—The assembly's committing a person to goal, for refusing to answer, upon oath, certain questions relative to an officer's taking double fees, is said to be the subject which occasioned these motions.

May 6. On Friday last the Hon. John Stuart, Esq; Superintendent of Indian affairs, went in his Majesty's ship Carysfort, Capt. William Hay for West Florida, where he is to hold a great and general Congress with all the southern Indians, and many others.

Rice is now sold at fifty shillings the roolb. and in great demand.

Part of the baggage of his Excellency the Right Hon. Lord Charles-Greville Montague, Governor in chief of the province, is arrived here from London; and we hear his Lordship and his lady, the chief justice and his lady, with sundry other ladies and gentlemen, are expected here very speedily in a ship of war from Great-Britain.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.

Capt. Wicks in 7 weeks from Gibraltar, informs that there was at that place six ships of the line, and three frigates, but the late disturbances being blown over, five of the men of war and one frigate, were preparing to go home again.

NEW-YORK, May 23:

Monday last arrived the Brig Concord, Captain Thomas Brockway, in 44 Days from Pool; on his Passage the 25th of April, Lat. 45, 00, Lon.
40, he spoke with the Ship Alexander, Capt. John Torrington, belonging to Boston, from Charlestown, bound to Portsmouth, laden with Rice, 15 Days out, all well.

We hear from Stratford, that the Story in our last, from New-London, about Doctor Johnson's having taken a House for the Dean of Limerick, for four Years; who was said to be soon sent by the King to inspect the Affairs of the Church of England in America, and make report, &c. is without any Truth or Foundation, and could be invented and reported only from pure Malice to the Episcopal Clergy, to take Occasion thence to abuse and slandier them as Men of no Truth in their Reports of the Affairs of the Church. All that the Dean (i. e. Doctor Berkely) said, was, that he had inherited from both his Parents, (who formerly resided here) such an Affection for America, that he purposed in a Year or two to make a Visit thither, and if he did, he had Thoughts of taking a House for a Year at Stratford, from the Friendship he had to Doctor Johnson and his Son.

Monday Afternoon the Ship London, Captain Chambers, failed from hence for London; in the above Ship went Passengers, Capt. Musgrave, of the 28th Regiment, Lieut. Richardson, of the 26th, and Mr. Harper, Merchant.

Capt. Berton failed from London the 6th of April, in Company with the Captains Thomas Miller, and Esingham Lawrence, for this Port, who stopped at Gravesend, and spoke with the following Vessels on his Passage, viz. the 14th of April, in Lat. 47, 21, with the Brig Bristol Packet, belonging to Boston, Capt. Skinner, from Carolina for Haverdegrace, 29 Days out; the 23d following, in Lat. 45, 41, with a Brig from Rhode-Island for London, Master's Name unknown; the next Day, with Captain Hill from the Musquito Shore for Rhode-Island; and on the 14th Instant, in Lat.
39, with Capt. Fame in a Brig from Cape-Bay for Bermuda.

Last Tuesday our annual Commencement was held at Trinity Church—present the Right Honourable the Earl of Dunmore, his Excellency General Gage, the Gentlemen of his Majesty's Council, &c. &c. when the following Gentlemen of King's College in this City, whose Performances did the highest Honour to themselves, and the Place of their Education, were graduated, viz.

The Degree of M. A. was likewise conferred on the Rev.
Jonathan Boucher, Rector of Annapolis in Maryland After which the Company dined together in the College Hall.

"Farther Particulars are not yet come to hand.
A private Letter from Dublin, dated the 30th of March, informs us, that the Brig Mary, Capt. Anderson, from New-York, was arrived there.

[The Description of A BUCK, tho' containing several just Observations, is judged not sufficiently accurate for Publication]

The great Number of excellent Speeches in the House of Commons, on the Commitment of the Lord Mayor and Alderman Oliver, and other violent Proceedings in that House, which, on account of their length, it is impossible to insert in a weekly Paper.—Several of our Customers have desired to have printed in a separate Pamphlet, which therefore is proposed to be done with all convenient Speed: Those who choose to have the said Speeches, with a short Account of the whole Affair, are desired to give Notice to the Printer.

Since our last, have arrived the Ships the Prince William, Bruce, from Philadelphia; the York, Berton, and the John and Betty, Duwell from London; the Brig

WILLIAM CAMPBELL,

(Shop-keeper at the Fly Market.)

INTENDS leaving this for Europe, by the first of July next, desires all persons who have any demands on him, to bring in their Accounts, and receive payments, and requests all those who are indebted to him, to discharge the same by that time.
He hopes this will be a sufficient Notice, and that they will not oblige him to take any rigorous methods for the recovery of his Money.

He has on hand, A LARGE ASSORTMENT of SHOP GOODS, which he will SELL, off at prime COST.

81-84.

THE Drawing of the Free-Bridge Lottery, over Harlem-River, which was advertised and appointed to begin the 25th of May, 1784, being necessarily prevented by the Absence of the Managers (who are obliged to attend the Supreme Court at that Time) will necessarily be delay'd no longer than till they can give the necessary Attendance preparatory to it, which is proposed in a short Time; after which, the Drawing will immediately commence, the Proprietors, rather than there should be any further Delay, intending themselves to stand the Chance of the said Lottery, tho' the Number of Hands is greater than they would choose; and must be a considerable drawback upon the Revenue proposed by the Lottery. They therefore humbly hope, from the Generosity of the Public's ready Sale for the Tickets still on Hand on Consideration of the great Expense they the said Proprietors have been at, in erecting and at their own Expense without any private Emolument, maintaining for near 14 Years, a free bridge over the said River, Hoping thereby an arbitrary Tax upon Passengers, that would in the Time have amounted to several Thousand Pounds.

There are few if any Instances of persons who have performed Works of equal Utility to the Public, without a public Compensation, at least in kind, to reimburse their Expense; yet so hard has been the Fate of the subscribers, that all their Endeavours to their Purpose, assisted by many Friends and public spirited Gentlemen who have interested themselves in their behalf, have been by some Means or other counteracted and frustrated, so that they are left entirely without Redress, except from the Public: Relying therefore on the Generosity of the Public, they hope the Hardness of their Fate will be an Inducement to all benevolent People to purchase, before the Time of drawing, all the Tickets remaining unsold, especially as the Purchasers will have a good Chance of a much greater proportion-able Advantage to themselves, than the Subscribers (who have expended all their Fortunes in this Work) can have by the Sale of the whole Number of Tickets.

New-York, 15th
May 1771. (81-84)

John Doughty, Jobb Parfills.

POET'S CORNER.

THE honest Heart, whose Thoughts are clear From Fraud, Disguise, and Guile, Need neither Fortune's frowning fear Nor court the Harlot's Smile.
The Greatness that would make us grave, Is but an empty Thing;
What more than Mirth would Mortals have?
The cheerful Man's a King.

LONDON.

March 14. Yesterday the proclamation for taking the printers of a morning and evening paper into custody, was sent to the Lord Mayor, to be published at the Royal-Exchange.

Immediately after Mr. Wilkes had discharged J. Wheble, and bound him over to prosecute, his accuser, he wrote the following:

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Halifax, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.
Guildhall of London, March 13, 1771.

"My Lord,

"I had the honour of officiating this day as the sitting Justice at Guildhall, John Wheble, the Publisher of the Middlesex Journal, a freeman of London, was apprehended and brought before me by Edward Twine Carpenter, who appears to be neither a constable, nor peace officer of this City. I demanded of what crime Wheble was accused, and if oath had been made of his having committed any felony, or breach of the peace, or if he lay under a suspicion strong enough to justify his apprehension or detention. Carpenter answered, that he did not accuse Wheble of any crime, but had apprehended him merely in consequence of his Majesty's Proclamation, for which he claimed the reward of 50*l*. As I found there was no legal cause of complaint against Wheble, I thought it clearly my duty to adjudge, that he had been apprehended in the City illegally, in direct violation of the Rights of an Englishman, and of the chartered Privileges of a Citizen of this Metropolis, and to discharge him. He then made a formal complaint of the assault upon him by Carpenter; I therefore bound him over to prosecute in a recognizance of 40*l*. and Carpenter to appear and answer the complaint at the next Quarter Sessions of the Peace for this City in a recognizance of 40*l*. himself, with two sureties in recognizance of 20*l*. each.

I am my Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient,
Right Hon. Earl of Halifax, humble servant, (Signed) JOHN WILKES.
COPY of the WARRANT for apprehending Mr. MILLER.

Whereas the House of Commons did on Thursday the fourteenth day of this instant March adjudge and order that J. Miller (for whom the newspaper intitled the London Evening Post, from Thursday March 7 to Saturday March 9, 1771, purports to be printed and of which paper a complaint was made in the House of Commons on the said fourteenth day of March) be, for his contempt in not obeying the order of the said House, for his attendance on the House upon Thursday the said fourteenth day of this instant March, taken into custody of the Serjeant at Arms or his Deputy attending the said House.

These are therefore to require you forthwith to take into your custody the body of the said J. Miller, and him safely keep, during the pleasure of the said House; and all Mayors, Bailiffs, Sheriffs, Under Sheriffs, Constables, and Headboroughs and every other person or persons are hereby required to be aiding and assisting to you or your Deputy in the execution thereof. Given under my hand the fifteenth day of March one thousand seven hundred and seventy one.

The House of Commons having Yesterday received information that one of the Messengers of this House, after he had arrested J. Miller by virtue of the warrant of the Speaker of the House of Commons, to answer for a Contempt of the said House, was carried by a Constable upon a Charge made against the said Messenger by the said J. Miller, for an assault and false Imprisonment made upon the said J. Miller in the said arrest, before Brads Crosby Esquire, Alderman, Lord Mayor of the City of London, where John Wilkes, Esquire, Alderman, and Richard Oliver, Esquire, were present, when the Deputy Serjeant at Arms, attending this House, acquainted the said Magistrates, that the said Arrest of the said J. Miller was made by the said Messenger under a Warrant signed by the Speaker of the House of Commons, which Warrant was then produced and shewn to the Magistrates, and demanded of them, that the said Messenger should be discharged, and the said J. Miller delivered up to the Custody of said Messenger, and that the said Lord Mayor, John Wilkes Esquire, and Richard Oliver, Esquire, after such Information and Demand as aforesaid, signed a Warrant for the Commitment of said Messenger to the Compter for the said supposed assault and false Imprisonment of the said J. Miller, and obliged the said Messenger to enter into a Recognizance for his Appearance at the next Quarter Sessions of the Peace to be held for the City of London, to answer to such Indictments as should then be found against him for the said supposed assault and false Imprisonment.

Ordered, that John Wilkes, Esq; do attend this House To-morrow Morning.

Minutes of the House of Commons, March 20, 1771. That James Morgan, Clerk of the Lord Mayor, do at the table expunge the minutes taken before the Lord Mayor, relative to the Messenger of this House, giving security for his appearance at the next General Quarter Sessions of the Peace; and he accordingly at the table expunged the same.

Motion made, and Question proposed, That no other prosecution, suit, or proceeding, be commenced, or carried for, on account of the said pretended assault, or false imprisonment. It passed in the affirmative.

Copy of a Letter from the Publisher of the London Packet.

To the Right Hon. Sir Fletcher Norton, Knt. Speaker of the House of Commons.

S I R,

Having received an order of the House of Commons to attend them on Thursday last, and imagining that every other printer, that was desired, would obey the summons, I actually did attend within call till Friday morning, when I took the liberty of returning home, believing this act entirely justifiable, as the order only required my attendance in the morning, and I had to that time made an addition of twelve hours.

This day my presence is required by an order grounded on my Non attendance on Thursday, although it was declared in the House that I did attend, but was not called till Friday; a time at which I was not surely obliged by law to answer.

On the former occasion, I had my doubts concerning the legality of the order with which I was served. Understanding that the House intended to punish me, for what I deemed a merit rather than a crime, I reflected that the House of Commons was never reckoned a court of justice; and that if I must be tried, I must be tried by my equals—by a jury of unbiassed men—and not by Gentlemen, who, though a party, think proper to assume the title of Judge and Jury. I observed that the King had no power to chastise any man that had given him offence, but is forced to have recourse to the law of the land, and to abide by the verdict of twelve Jurors legally chosen; and I could not conceive why an inferior should be indulged with greater power than a superior branch of the legislature. Nor could I persuade myself that either ought to be entrusted with an unlimited and discretionary power, such an idea being inconsistent with all law and good government. I understood that his Majesty's British subjects were amenable only to known and established laws, and not to the occult law of Parliament, which its very name shews to be binding only on itself and its members, and not on the people, who are to be judged by the law of the land. It occurred to me that the House of Commons was intended for making, and not for expounding the law; and that in all well regulated societies the legislative and judicial powers were to be kept distinct; because otherwise there would be no occasion for enacted laws, as the maker would have it in his power to unmake, alter, suspend, and interpret them at his pleasure, like an Eastern monarch. I knew the uneasiness which a similar proceeding of the King's Bench, in the case of Bingley, had produced in the nation. I know the jealousy conceived against the House of Lords for the exertion of a like authority. These and many other circumstances of the same nature, crowded into my mind, and made me suspect the legality of the whole process. Yet still I would not be the first to resist the orders of the House of Commons, to which the utmost reverence is due, whilst it continues a representative of the people. I now find that the same doctrines are embraced by lawyers, and magistrates and by the people. I should therefore be justly chargeable not only with pusillanimity, but with betraying the constitution, were I not to concur in bringing this matter into a course of legal decision. For this reason, I hope that the House will excuse my attendance, till the point is determined, and till it is universally known whether a British subject has, or has not a right to be tried by a jury. If it shall be found that he has not, and that I ought to have obeyed your orders, I will submit to the laws of my country, and to the House.
